

ADDYSG CYMRU
EDUCATION WALES
cenhadaeth ein cenedl | our national mission

Curriculum for Wales Stakeholder newsletter

September 2017

Issue: 08

Welcome

The Cabinet Secretary for Education, Kirsty Williams, launched 'Education in Wales – our national mission' on 26th September. It describes how Wales' education reforms will support the introduction of the new curriculum and bring us the outcomes for our children that we all want to see.

This marks a moment of change for this newsletter. From now on it will expand its coverage to incorporate all education reforms currently underway, giving a rounded picture of progress.

In this special edition:

'Education in Wales – our national mission'

This is the full strategy document that sets out how development of the new curriculum, professional learning, teaching standards, assessment and accountability, and inclusive schools reforms will happen, also how and when.

The Cabinet Secretary's launch speech

Kirsty Williams is passionate about taking these reforms forward in a positive and supportive way. She sets her views out strongly in this speech. You can watch it via periscope at <https://www.pscp.tv/w/1vAxRNkLDoyxl> where she is introduced by Deputy Permanent Secretary Owen Evans

12 things you need to know

If you're short of time, this simple set of questions and answers explains the reforms and how they complement each other